GuardRX™ pharmacy prescription bag designed with patient privacy.

The Problem
Medical identity theft, and fraudulent use of private health information are rampant problems in the U.S. The latest smartphone cameras can discreetly take high-quality photographs of exposed patient information sheet in the prescription will-call bin, pick-up window or in a shopping cart.

The Solution
The GuardRX™ provides a quick and affordable way to protect the privacy of your customers from an often-overlooked vulnerability. People don't always think about having their identities stolen when dealing with pharmacies or other health care providers. We do, and we have a solution to make the transaction as worry-free as possible for our customers and yours.

Why the GuardRX™?
We have designed a pharmacy prescription bag that protects the private information of your customers in the vulnerable will-call area and beyond.

- Avoid potential HIPAA and FTC violations by safeguarding individual protected health information (PHI) using a unique privacy window.
- Increase the trust of your customers by assuring them that patient confidentiality is important to your pharmacy.
- Protect your investment in advertising by fully displaying valuable branding and promotional messaging.
- Streamline the process of bagging prescriptions and decrease supply costs by eliminating the stapling step.
- Eliminate the risk of potential injury to customers and employees from sharp edges of staple sticking out from bags.

About
Led by former Apple design engineer Kevin Grant, a passionate group of engineers, designers, and healthcare professionals organized Privacy Prescriptions to resolve privacy issues in the pharmacy field. We have dedicated our professional lives to protecting people from fraudsters and thieves who like to prey on vulnerable, often ill, people. We are determined to find great solutions to help protect customers and pharmacies from these criminals.
